Telecommunication & Consulting Services

We offer comprehensive telecommunication consulting services and conduct in-depth research to help businesses optimize their communication infrastructure. Our team of experts provides strategic guidance and innovative solutions to enhance connectivity, improve network performance, and drive business growth. With our industry knowledge and technical expertise, we deliver tailored recommendations and implement cutting-edge technologies to meet your unique requirements.
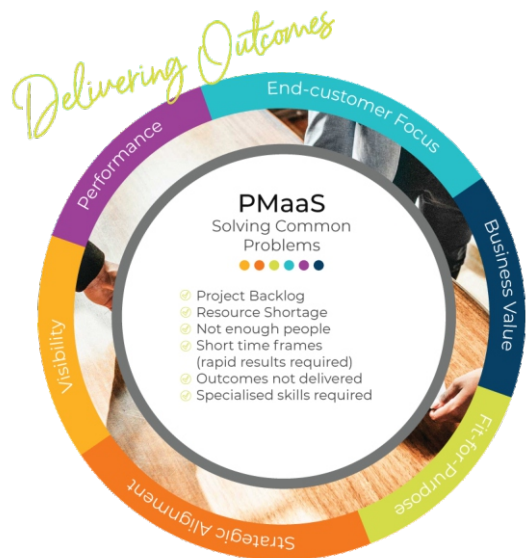

We can provide services like telecom equipment installation, maintenance, and fault finding for 2G, 3G, LTE, and 5G networks. We are specialised in Site Installation (Site Survey and Planning, Equipment Setup and Configuration) and Maintenance (Regular Inspections, Performance Monitoring and Preventive Maintenance).

We can conduct Panoramic (PANS), Drone Survey, Utilities Search (STATS), Ground Penetration Radar (GPR) Scan and Trial Hole (TH). Our experienced design team can provide Auto CAD Design services for Street Work (SW), Green field (GF) and Rooftop (RT) Telecommunication sites.

Project Management as a Service (PMaaS)

Project Management as a Service (PMaaS) is a modern approach to sourcing IT project management expertise, offering an alternative to hiring permanent staff or contractors. KHAS Consulting's PMaaS model provides flexible access to skilled project professionals, tools, and resources at a predictable cost. Their services span IT advisory, business analysis, PMO services, and complete project delivery, covering areas like business change, transformation, infrastructure, and digital projects.

With expertise across various sectors and industries, KHAS Consulting offers both on-site and remote project management, specializing in remote delivery. The flexible, on-demand model allows organizations to scale their project management resources up or down based on their needs. KHAS Consulting offers a straightforward commercial structure where resources are forecasted and billed according to consumption, allowing for cost-effective, part-time, or full-time access to project management expertise.

Whether you need access to single resources for a flexible time period or a fully managed service, we have a resource pool of Programme and Project Management specialists, who are all experienced practitioners from across the complete portfolio of project and programmes – in fact, anything with an IT flavour.

We provide a comprehensive range of Programme Management, Project Management, Business Analysis, Technical Advisory and PMO/PSO resources, our memberships and accreditations include PRINCE2, Project Management Institute, Agile Project Management Certification and MSP. Experience gained from multiple sectors and industries means our clients benefit from a practical, hands-on approach to programme and project delivery that works.

Comprehensive Drive Testing Solutions

At KHAS Consulting, we pride ourselves on delivering precise and actionable insights into network performance. Our drive testing services are designed to measure voice and data quality across diverse environments, including cities, suburbs, small towns, and highways.

By leveraging the latest smartphones and equipment, we evaluate both 4G and 5G network performance, ensuring a representative analysis that reflects real-world user experiences.

Key Features of Our Drive Testing Services

Extensive Coverage

From bustling urban centers to remote rural areas, we cover all terrains to provide a holistic view of network capabilities.

Advanced Measurement Tools

Equipped with cutting-edge smartphones and software, we collect data on voice quality, data speed, latency, and connectivity for both 4G and 5G networks.

Reliable Insights for Optimisation

The data we gather helps identify network strengths and bottlenecks, enabling operators to fine-tune their infrastructure for improved user satisfaction.

On-Foot and In-Vehicle Testing

Our teams conduct tests not only via vehicles but also on foot, ensuring comprehensive coverage in dense urban areas and challenging terrains.

With Khas Consulting, you gain a trusted partner committed to enhancing network performance and delivering superior communication experiences. Contact us today to learn how we can support your network optimisation goals.
